Regiment and according to a like Address, he being deprived &c. as above: to commence from June 24 last. Out Letters (Ireland) X, p. 209.

Aug. 12. Royal warrant to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland to pay 624*l.* per an. for 14 years from 28 March 1719 to the poor Palatines in Ireland: all by reason that Queen Anne by her sign manual of 28 March 1712 [Calendar of Treasury Books, Vol. XXVI, pp. 216-17] (reciting that the said Palatines in Ireland were in 1711 reduced to 312 families) directed an allowance after the rate of 40*s.* per an., to be paid to each family for seven years, making 624*l.* per an.: and in 1715 his present Majesty on a Representation from the Commissioners for taking care of the said Palatines directed that the said 624*l.* per an. should be granted absolutely for the remainder of the said term of seven years (notwithstanding some of those families had quitted the kingdom) whereby the said Palatines might be enabled to maintain a minister to read the Liturgy of the Church to them in their own language and likewise an Agent that understands their language and to support other contingent charges: and the Treasury Lords have laid before us your letter to them of Jan. 6 [last] and also a Report made to you by the said Commissioners for taking care of the said Palatines, wherein you propose that the said 624*l.* per an. be continued for 14 years from 28 March 1719 (when the term granted by the said former directions will expire): the King is graciously pleased to condescend thereto and therefore commands the preparation of letters patent to pass the great seal of Ireland for granting to the said Commissioners or their nominees the said 624*l.* per an. for 14 years from 1719 March 28 for the support of the said poor Palatines and to enable them to maintain a minister and an Agent as above: and this sum to be inserted in the present and all future Establishments of Ireland: but with power to the Crown to determine same at pleasure or to make such alterations or abatements therein as may be thought fit. Ibid., pp. 210-11.

The like warrant to same to remove the respits on [divers of] the pensions in the present Establishment of Ireland; being pensions on the said Establishment which were respited until the circumstances and pretensions of the persons to whom the same were thereby made payable were examined and inquired into and reported to the King; the Treasury Lords having "laid before us the examinations which you caused to be made touching the premises pursuant to our pleasure before declared: now we having taken the same into our consideration are graciously pleased to remove and take off the respits on the said pensions and every of them, except those payable to the several and respective persons hereunder particularly named, which we think fit absolutely to determine and make void: that is to say:
